sentatives that boss rule turns out in Pensylvania, as well as the mature of Cameron's power and the use he makes of it. The independent Republicans of that State demand as one of the conditions of party reform in the present, that the people shall be permitted to select their own representatives in the approaching State convention for the nomination of a Governor and other State officers. Even before that demand had been made, the County Committees in a number of he was so great-so honest as a writer,' SENATOR EDWINDS, writing of Mormon ism: "If suitable laws were enforced with the same vigor shown in punishing illicit distilling the practice of polygamy migh in fifteen years be broken up."

It is all very well for the Washington the County Committees in a number of counties had been called together and had selected delegates to the State Convention correspondents to assure us that the rela-tions of the President and Mr. Blaine are of the most friendly and cordial character -selecting of course only such men as will do as they are told when the Convention but will the President support Mr. Blaine

If again which he forced a Grant delegation to the Chicago Convention. If the President has never been looked upon as a position requiring the best talent of the President has never been looked upon as a position requiring the best talent of the Convention, the third term movement would have been crushed out of existence on the spot. If Cameron now undertakes, by the same obnoxious tactics, to force an unwelcome candidate for Governor upon the Republicans of Pennsylvania, he ought to discover that the party itself will not discover that the party itself will not discover that the party itself will not do do so they are told when the Convention meets. 500, and then adding $1,500 from his own pocket. He expects to secure the services the of some statesman with unbounded political knowledge and the keenest social tact.

THE old joke that for every dollar given for missions another has to be added, to get it to the work, is completely overthrown The American board last year distributed $691,285 at a cost of 44 per cent, divided in this way: For circulating in telligence, including agencies, 2 per-cent; correspondence, 14 per cent, and busines administration 11 per cent. The Methodist Church did its mission work at home and abroad for 3 per cent of its receipts.

DR. ROBERT B. McNARY, of St. Louis, has told the Globe-Democrat that the following plan is "infallible" in detecting the pres ence of smallpox. "The feeling of tiredness and pain in the back are almost universal and prominent symptoms, but the one thing that distinguishes smallpox from every other is the hardness of the eruption. By pressing and passing the hand over the ead or legs the feeling is exactly that which would be caused by medium-sized shot being buried under the skin, and the severity of the disease may certainly be known by the number or thickness of these shot-like bumps."

New Roads Built. The following is the table as far as we are now able to complete it, of new construction in 1881:

Mr. Andrew M. Blake, who signs himself an Astronomer, and who "resides in the "Eighteenth ward, Cleveland, Ohio," informs us that he "once held office under the Government of West Virginia and assisted in making it a State." After this introduction he desires the Intelligencer to put on record his prognostications of impor-We infer that Mr. Blake is one of those P., C. & St. L. S.37 6:37 8:37 1:22 3:55 5:42 "undevout astronomers" whom the poet C., T. V. & W. 1:50 17:00 14:00 'undevout astronomers" whom the poet C., T. V. & W.

is what he desires us to record:

Blake, astronomer, says owing to the change in the parallelism of the axis of rotation of the earth, which took place during a superior planetary conjunction October 11, 1877, the entire United States is in the torrid zone. The mean annual temperature has increased 2°, equals 8° since 1877. We will now have all the distinguishing characteristics and meteorological phenomena of the tropics and torrid zone, increasing 2° annually. Yearly mean temperature on the old equatorial line S0°; mean temperature on the fortieth parallel of latitude 54°, 80° minus 54° equals 28° and accommodation. This train during the superior planetary of the fortieth parallel of latitude 54°, 80° minus 54° equals 28°. of the tropics and torrid zone, increasing 2° annually. Yearly mean temperature on the old equatorial line 80°; mean temperature on the old equatorial line 80°; mean temperature on the fortieth parallel of latitude 51°; 80° minute 54° quals 20°, divided by 2°, present annual increase, equals thirteen. Years added to A. D. 1877—when the change took place—equals A. D. 1800, when the heat on the new equatorial line will equal that which prevailed on the old equator, or in mine years from this time—1891—we will have the full blaze of an unclouded equatorial san. In three years more—Ar D. 1884—it will average 60°, when all kinds of tropical fruits and productions can be raised successfully. That yearly mean will be sufficient to give nature a tropical aspect.

The above is a very luminous presentation of a luminous subject. It is a little tion of a luminous subject. It is a little clearer than mud but not quite so crystalline as Ohio river water at high tide. Our private opinion is that Blake has formed a IT NEVER FAILS "planetary conjunction" with Vennor and private opinion is that Blake has formed a Mother Shipton, and is on the same "axis of rotation," as it were. Boss Politics in Pennsylvania.

The movement for the reform of the Re-

Uties, N. Y., Herald. publican organization in Pennsylvania moves on with steady impetus, and meets with a response from the masses of the party all over the State, which proves what party all over the State, which proves what its originators assert, that the Pennsylvania Republicans have long been restless under the dictation of the Camerons, and await only for leadership and opportunity to break away from it. At the same time there is danger that the movement may fail of its purpose, for the lack of courageous leadership. There is more salutary influence exerted by one brays, bold break?

WHERLING, W. VA. rail of its purpose, for the lack of courageous leadership. There is more salutary influence exerted by one brave, bold break from the tyranny of faction like that which Wolfe led in Pennsylvania hast fall, than in all the good resolutions and righteous protests that were ever put on paper. Fifty thousand Republicans, by voting for Wolfe, proved that they under no circumstances can be longer dragooned into the support of leaders who make the party organization a machine to advance their own selfish purposes, without regard for the wishes or the convictions of the voters whom they ask to support their tickets at the polls. The machine laughs at resolutions, but demonstrations like that of Wolfe bring it to reason. For years past the management of the Republican party in the State of Pennsylvania has been more vicious than anywhere else in the United States. In the painters days of the machine in New York, paintest days of the machine in New York, paintest days of the machine in New York, as occurs every year in remayarama. This country has never witnessed a more humilisting spectacle of depraved politics than the part which the Pennsylvania delection played in the election of a speaker at the organization of the House of Representatives in Desember hast. Every member of the Pennsylvania delegation had voluntarily given his pledge to support Mr. Hiscock in that canvass, and all of them came to Washington with the intention of fulfilling this pledge. In the case of more than half the delegation, the pledge was in writing, and of the most cordial and unequivocal character. But Don Camecoon appeared upon the scenes; and at his command every member but one or two falsified his pledge, and voted for Keifer, Mr. Keifer surrendering hitnself to the purposes of Cameron, as his share of the bargain. This episode fairly illustrates the kind of representatives that boss rule turns out in Pennsylvania, as well as the nature of Cameron's WANTED.-I WANT TO RENT A HOUSE, six or seven rooms, water and gas. ly located.
